Edna Price Canyon Trail Project
Workshop #3
Wednesday, October 21st
6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.
Los Ranchos Elementary School Library
5785 Los Ranchos Road, San Luis Obispo, CA

A short presentation will be followed by a community workshop where participants will be invited to:

- Learn about the Edna-Price Canyon Trail project and process
- See the planning progress to date
- Review and comment on key components of the study
- Ask questions of the planning team

The overall goal of the project is to prepare a Trail Feasibility Study for a multi-purpose trail between San Luis Obispo and Pismo Beach through Edna Valley and Price Canyon. The planning process for the project is expected to conclude in early 2016, with three rounds of public workshops. The end product is a Feasibility Study that assesses the existing conditions, analyzes opportunities and constraints, and develops design criteria, a draft trail alignment and alternatives as well as providing an implementation strategy.

Please join us to share your ideas, knowledge, and invaluable feedback, which is essential in shaping the future of this recreational opportunity and community connector. Participants may view the Draft Edna-Price Canyon Trail Feasibility Study online via the project website at: www.sloanza.com.
